ROWAN CIRCUIT COURT.

James Harris alias Pendulum Acquitted of the Charge of Conspiracy to Commit Murder.

Judge J. R. Morton, of Lexington, commenced a special term of the Rowan Circuit Court last Monday to try the case of the Commonwealth against James Harris alias Pendulum under indictment for conspiracy to murder Judge Cole and others. Commonwealth's Attorney Sallee represented the State and Boone Logan and Spaulding defended the prisoner.

A jury was empaneled on Tuesday and the trial ended yesterday. Judge Morton instructed the jury to find the defendant not guilty. The ruling of the court was based upon section eight of the law approved April 11, 1873. The prisoner had been used as a witness before the grand jury to indict his alleged accomplices Dr. Logan and McClurg, whom the Governor pardoned, and the language of the act above referred to is that any person so testifying shall be discharged from all liability for any violation of the act disclosed in his testimony.

About the only evidence the State had was the prisoner's own drunken confession in which he implicated Dr. Henry Logan and McClurg. These two were regularly subpoenaed as witnesses, but they skipped the county as soon as they knew they were wanted and an attachment failed to bring them before the court. Judge Morton delivered a written opinion in the case very clearly setting forth the law which furnishes, we understand, some interesting reading.

There were no State troops present and the term was orderly and quiet. Peace reigns supreme in the once warlike Morehead and the town shows considerable business activity. All factions seem to have buried the hatchet, and to have gone to work. The peaceful change is wonderful and there is even yet a future for historic Rowan.

THE STORY OF THE WRECK

HOW THE PROPELLER VERNON WAS LOST.

Axel Stone, the Only Survivor, Tells a Well Connected Story of the Disaster and the Cause of the Same—Over Forty-Eight Hours in the Freezing Water.

GREEN BAY, Wis., Nov. 3.—The schooner S. B. Pomeroy, arrived here at 7:40 last evening, having on board Axel Stone, picked up on Lake Michigan by the schooner, and who is the sole survivor of the propeller Vernon. He is a Swede, aged twenty-three years and can talk but imperfect English. However, he made himself quite well understood and tells a more connected and intelligent story than could be expected from one who had been in the lake forty-eight hours through freezing weather. The Vernon left Chicago Thursday evening at 6 o'clock on her regular trip, and made the usual stops. At St. Ignace they took on pig iron. They left Frankfort at 7 o'clock Friday evening, that being the last port touched at. Her cargo consisted of apples, fish, potatoes, pig iron and staves, and the load was unusually heavy, the boat being loaded about one foot deeper than usual, and the deck being only about six inches above water. After leaving Frankfort the weather was fine and continued so until between 9 and 10 o'clock, when a gale from the northwest set in. Stone says he was on watch till midnight. The sea rose rapidly, and the boat labored heavily, although she seemed while he was on deck to steer pretty well. Her excessive loads between decks prevented the closing of the gangways. At the gangways the deck was only about one and one half inches above water on the starboard side and six inches on the port side. She rolled a good deal until about 4 o'clock a. m., and the water was washing through the gangways.

Before that hour there was at one time considerable water in the hold, which they pumped out with a syphon, and supposed everything was all right. Stone says that before he went off watch he ventured to suggest to the captain that some lading be thrown off, so that the gangways could be closed, but that the latter told him to go to—h—l, and that he was running that boat. He also says that he asked the mate why they did not turn around and put back. He says that after the wreck, and while on a raft one of the firemen told him that one of the fires was put out at 3 o'clock. Between 3 and 4 o'clock he was awakened by a crashing sound, and the noise of trying to get boats from the deck. He felt the steamer was foundering, and putting on a life preserver sprang through a window of the room into the water.

Another Lake Disaster.

MUSKEGON, Mich., Nov. 3.—The little schooner Augustus, captained by W. H. Ruse, left here October 5, bound for Milwaukee. Since then no news of the craft has been received. The recent heavy storms on the lakes, which wrecked so much shipping, is believed to have been too much for the schooner, and she has probably gone down with all her crew.

Starved to Death.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 3.—Officer Joe Smith, of the S. P. C. A., at noon found at 784 West Front street, Henry Pernell, a gaunt, emaciated corpse starved to death, and about him his wife and children, and aged father, in the last stages of starvation. He had the father taken to the morgue, the mother and children to the hospital, and the neighbors had no suspicion until this morning of the condition of the dying family, and were horrified when they learned the awful facts.

Didn't Get San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3.—The claim of J. K. More to the land on which this city is built was exploded yesterday by evidence before the grand jury. It was shown that Mrs. Gonzales, who had been put forward by More to prove an old grant, confessed to a priest on her deathbed recently that the claim was fraudulent. The priest refused her absolution unless she would make affidavit to the facts, and she did so. Upon this affidavit the grand jury will indict More and a number of his associates.

Disastrous Storms.

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 3.—Disastrous storms have been prevalent along the Atlantic coast of late. The storm of Sunday night was worse than any before. Owing to the fact that the telegraph lines are down reports are very meager, but it is estimated that at least fifty vessels are ashore. Many of these are total wrecks. It is feared that many lives are lost. A steamer is ashore at Ocean View and many are yet to be heard from. Steamers will not leave this port until better weather is assured.

Nobody Gully.

DELPHI, Ind., Nov. 3.—One week ago the special grand jury was summoned to investigate the Amor Green lynching and the conduct of the judge and sheriff, who were severely criticized by Governor Gray. The grand jury reported last evening, finding no indictments, and exonerating judge and sheriff. Everybody is happy over the report.

Secretary Whitney Slowly Recovering.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Dr. A. L. Loomis, who is attending Secretary Whitney, said this morning that his patient is slowly recovering health. Mr. Whitney takes a short drive daily, but beyond that seldom leaves the house. He receives no callers, but passes the time quietly with Mrs. Whitney. He looks better than he has for some time.

Telegraph Rates Advanced.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 3.—The Western Union Telegraph company has abolished special rebate and Mutual Union rates to eastern points. This is equivalent to an advance of 40 per cent on night and 20 per cent on day messages. The Pacific Mutual company also announces an advance of 20 per cent.

Death of Samuel W. Bowerman.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 3.—Samuel W. Bowerman died this morning at 5 o'clock after a brief illness. He was one of the leaders of the Democratic party of Massachusetts. He served in the senate and assembly for several terms. He was sixty-eight years old, and leaves a widow and three children.

Boatblack Barred.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 3.—At the meeting of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce yesterday the petition of John O'Hara to become a member was rejected, because he is a boatblack. That of William Bodner was also rejected because he is a saloon keeper.

A HORRIBLE STORY.

A Father Sells His Daughters to Indians for Whisky.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—A special to the World from Ottawa, Ont., says: "While a Victoria schooner was lying at the wharf Barclay Sound on the west coast of Vancouver Island recently, the captain and crew were surprised to see two white girls running toward the vessel, closely pursued by three or four Indians. The girls sprang on board and begged the captain to protect them from their pursuers. The Indians demanded the girls as their property, but the captain refused to give the girls up. The Indians went away, and returned largely reinforced. The captain then surrendered the girls for fear of his life.

They are daughters of William Thompson, of San Juan. The father became dissipated, and all he earned went for the purchase of liquor. When he could no longer obtain money or liquor he sold his eldest daughter to a wealthy Chinaman, to whom, it is said, she was married at the point of the revolver. His wife died of a broken heart, and in one of his rages at the Indian camp, it is alleged, he agreed to barter two of his daughters for whisky. The following night the girls were carried away by a few of the tribe. Since their captivity they have been subject to the most brutal treatment. A young sister, only eight years old, was sold to another tribe of Indians.

Dan Cunningham Caught in Ohio.

POMEROY, O., Nov. 3.—A telephone message at 10:30 a. m. from Racine, a town seven miles above here on the river, says that Dan Cunningham, who is charged with being the leader of the Jackson and Roane county, West Virginia, gang of robbers and murderers, crossed the river from Graham Station to Racine this morning and was arrested by the Racine authorities. He will be turned over to the West Virginia officers on payment of the reward offered. This is the gang that robbed and murdered Rev. Thomas Ryan, and was afterwards pursued, when one of the number was captured and lynched and others were shot.

Woolen Mills Burned.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3.—Bromley's woolen mills in Germantown were destroyed by fire at an early hour this morning. The structure was owned by the Bromley estate and about $5,000 worth of machinery in the place was the property of the same estate. The first floor was occupied by William R. Taylor, the second and third by Henry Stathard, and the fourth floor by Stirling Bros. All the firms are manufacturers of woolen goods and their insurance amounts to about $50,000. The total loss will reach $75,000.

Woman Hanged Herself.

AKRON, O., Nov. 3.—Kate Wolf, aged forty-seven, an old maid, who has been insane at times, and who was the mother of two children, hung herself from the limb of an apple tree in her mother's yard in this city early yesterday morning. The suicide had taken a chair, and after fastening a rope to a limb and about her neck kicked the chair from under her, and thus suspended strangled to death in a most shocking manner, her throat being terribly cut by the rope.

More Cholera Victims.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—The bulletin of Dr. Smith that all the Alisia survivors were well with the exception of two or three who were suffering with intestinal catarrh, and that he had removed two children sick with the measles from the Britannia, turns out to be untrue. Those named died Monday night of cholera. An assistant denies that there is any measles and says they have nothing but cholera.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 2.—The laborers on the sugar plantations will strike to-morrow. The planters have held meetings and refused to accede to the demands of the laborers, and at the same time notified them if they quit work they must leave the plantations. Anticipating trouble, George McEnery has again called out the state troops. All the companies are now held at the armories awaiting orders to move into the sugar districts, not only in New Orleans, but the companies of Baton Rouge, Iberville and New Iberia have received similar orders.

A Mayor Horsewhipped.

FORT SCOTT, Kan., Nov. 2.—Francis Tierman, mayor of this city, was publicly horsewhipped yesterday by B. F. Williams, an old man, because of a quarrel over a farm. Williams was put to considerable expense perfecting the title to the farm, and Tierman refused to reimburse him. This so worked on Williams young wife that she committed suicide. Yesterday Williams renewed his request, and when Tierman started to leave the old man drew a raw hide and struck the mayor several times on the face and neck.

Preferred Death to Arrest.

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 2.—George Saunders, a city clerk, cut his throat with a razor last evening, and died in three minutes. He had been on a spree for the past month and his wife had sworn out a warrant for his arrest, charging him with cruelty and non-support. Despondency is assigned as the reason for the act. He was thirty years of age and leaves one child.

An Ex-Slave's Fortune.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 2.—Amanda Johnson, an old negro woman living near this city, has just received information to the effect that she has fallen heir to a valuable plantation in Kentucky and a large sum of money left her by her old master in slave days. She proves to be his only child by one of his slaves.

A Month's Respite.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—This evening District Attorney Martine said he had decided to defer taking action in the Gould-Sage case until next month. Lawyer DeLancey, who presented the complaint and a keel for their indictment, has requested that he be given opportunity to answer the briefs of Gould's counsel.

Left the Ill-Fated Vessel.

ST. IGNACE, Mich., Nov. 3.—Misses Kate Gallagher and Sarah Durkin, lost in the propeller Vernon, disembarked from that vessel at Beaver Island, and are safe. When they left Mackinac they intended to go to Chicago, and just what lucky chance caused them to leave the ill-fated steamer, is not known.

Tramp Run Down by a Train.

PLYMOUTH, Ind., Nov. 2.—An unknown tramp was run over and injured so badly, just west of this place, by the limited express, west-bound on the Fort Wayne road, yesterday morning, that he cannot possibly live. He was walking on the track and did not heed the approach of the train.

MAYSVILLE COAL ELEVATORS.

The Slight Changes Necessitated by the New Railroad are About Completed.

The Maysville Coal Elevators will be in running order within a few days. This announcement will no doubt be news to many, for the opinion has been quite general that the new railroad would largely destroy the value of the property. When the elevators quit running a month or so ago, it was thought that no more coal would be handled at that point.

The elevator building, however, has been moved back forty-two feet, and the track to the river is now being laid. Hands are at work also making the necessary connections and repairing the machinery. The entire job will be completed in a few days, perhaps by next Monday, and at a very small cost. James Wallace is the contractor, and the work has been done under the supervision of W. B. Mathews, for the Citizens' Committee. The change will give the track an easier grade to the river, as it has been lowered to pass beneath the new railroad. When the change is completed it is claimed that the elevators will be in better condition than ever.

The elevators are owned by the Citizens' Committee and have not been leased yet. The property will probably be sold at an early day.

Don't Experiment.

You cannot afford to waste time in experimenting when your lungs are in danger. Consumption always seems, at first, only a cold. Do not permit any dealer to impose upon you with some cheap imitation of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, but be sure you get the genuine. Because he can make more profit he may tell you he has something just as good, or just the same. Don't be deceived, but insist upon getting Dr. King's New Discovery, which is guaranteed to give relief in all throat, lung and chest affections. Trial bottle free at the drug stores of J. C. Pecor & Co., and S. P. Campbell & Co., of Aberdeen Ohio.
